LES BAUX-DE-PROVENCE

It was in 1642 that Louis XIII, pursuant to the treaty signed in Péronne on September 14, 1641, established Les Baux as a marquisate for the benefit of the son of Prince Honoré II of Monaco, Hercule Grimaldi. While this link was officially abolished during the French Revolution, it has never disappeared, neither from hearts nor from memories, and remains engraved in the history of the two rocks. Moreover, the title of Marquis des Baux continues to be traditionally used by the heir to the Prince of Monaco, today Prince Jacques. Monuments of the village retain traces of the past that united Les Baux-de-Provence to the Sovereigns of Monaco. The beautiful stained glass windows of the Saint-Vincent church, made by the master glassmaker Max Ingrand, were gifted by Prince Rainier III and installed in 1962.

BATHERNAY

Bathernay, a small village in the Drôme region, 30 km from Valence, is closely linked to the Grimaldi family. Lord Imbert de Bathernay (1438-1523) lived in the manor house depicted on the stamp, which was listed as a historical monument in 1981. An advisor to the Kings of France, he was the grandfather of Diane de Poitiers and the great-grandfather of Françoise de Dailon, who married Jacques II de Matignon in 1558, an ancestor of H.S.H. Prince Albert II of Monaco. The Monegasque Sovereign will visit Bathernay next May and will notably visit the museum dedicated to Imbert, the construction of which He supported.

The Rock of Monaco illustrates the SEPAC program's common theme of «iconic landmarks». The historical and political heart of the Principality, crowned by the ramparts of the old town and overlooking the sea, the Rock offers an exceptional setting. It embodies the soul of Monaco through its remarkable monuments and gardens. Traces of Phocaean occupation dating back to the 6th century BC suggest that this site served as a stopover for Greek navigators. Since 1297, the Princes of Monaco have established their residence here.

Benjamin Franklin was renowned for his intelligence, scientific discoveries, and exceptional diplomatic skills. Thomas Jefferson, for his part, championed the ideals of liberty, democracy, and individual rights. Both men shared the values of Enlightenment philosophers and sought to build a more just society. ROSA PARKS AND MARTIN LUTHER KING

Rosa Parks (1913-2005) and Martin Luther King Jr. (1929-1968) are two major figures in the fight against racial segregation in the United States. In 1955, Rosa Parks refused to give up her seat to a white passenger on a bus in Montgomery, Alabama. Her arrest sparked a massive protest movement. Martin Luther King Jr. became the leading figure of this peaceful movement for equal rights. Both championed nonviolence and fought for justice and freedom for African Americans. Their commitment contributed to changing laws and attitudes in the United States during the 1950s and 1960s. Today, Rosa Parks and Martin Luther King Jr. remain universal symbols of courage and civil rights.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT AND JOHN F. KENNEDY

Iconic 20th century presidents, admired for their leadership and their commitment to advancing the nation, Franklin D. Roosevelt (1882-1945) and John F. Kennedy (1917-1963) are pivotal figures in the political history of the United States. During the Great Depression of the 1930s, Roosevelt implemented the New Deal, which stimulated the economy and provided support to struggling citizens. He played a crucial role in the Allied victory and the fight against Nazism during World War II. Admired for his charisma and intelligence, JFK embodied youth, dynamism, and hope for many Americans. His handling of the Cuban Missile Crisis in 1962 prevented a nuclear war with the Soviet Union. JFK championed the civil rights of African Americans and promoted equality in American society. His assassination in 1963 shocked the world.

APOSTOLIC VISIT OF HIS HOLINESS POPE LEO XIV TO MONACO

While Pope Paul III was received on the Rock in 1538, the visit of His Holiness Pope Leo XIV on March 28 marks the first apostolic journey by a Pope to Monaco in the modern era. This visit reflects the enduring bonds linking the Grimaldi dynasty to the Roman Pontiffs, as well as the historic and trusted diplomatic relations between the Monaco and the Holy See. 50th ANNIVERSARY OF THE RAMOGE AGREEMENT

To mark its 50th anniversary in 2026, the RAMOGE Agreement will be commemorated with a stamp celebrating half a century of cooperation between France, Monaco, and Italy for the protection of the Mediterranean. The design illustrates the Agreement's key actions, from preserving coastal and deep-sea biodiversity to combating marine pollution. The initial area, which gave its name to «RA.MO.GE» (territorial waters between Saint-Raphaël and Genoa, via Monaco), was extended in 1993 to include the waters from the mouth of the Rhône to the edge of Tuscany, thus covering a wider area for pollution control. This stamp pays tribute to the ongoing commitment to the sea and celebrates the pioneering initiative of Prince Rainier III, who launched the RAMOGE project.
