To mark its 75th anniversary, the United Nations launched the UN75 initiative, a wide-ranging and inclusive debate spanning the entire globe on the role of international cooperation in building a better future for humanity. To overcome problems such as the climate crisis, inequality and new patterns of violence, and to address the major demographic and technological change of our era, we need cooperation that cuts across borders, sectors and generations. 300th ANNIVERSARY OF THE BIRTH OF HONORÉ III

Monaco is celebrating the 300th anniversary of the birth of Prince Honoré III (1720–1795). With an educated and contemporary outlook, and receptive to Enlightenment thinking, Honoré III reigned for 60 years (1733–1793), the longest reign of all Monegasque sovereigns. He distinguished himself through a brilliant military career in the armies of Louis XV, and was promoted to general officer class in the French army, with the rank of maréchal de camp. An important French aristocrat (he inherited the title Duke of Valentinois from his father, Jacques de Goyon-Matignon), Prince Honoré III escaped the guillotine during the Terror of the French Revolution, having been stripped of the Principality of Monaco, Menton and Roquebrune by the National Convention.

SOLIDARITY COVID-19

In response to the unprecedented global health crisis caused by COVID-19, H.S.H. Prince Albert II sent a message of solidarity to the population of Monaco, the words of which are repeated on the stamp: "Patience, confidence, courage and solidarity". Self-help initiatives have been organized at all levels to protect those most impacted by the epidemic and to facilitate and ensure the continuity of daily life. The efforts and the implication of everyone, the sense of responsibility and solidarity, the efficiency of the decisions taken by the Government, made it possible to put an end to strict confinement. However, we must continue to act together with prudence, rigor and pragmatism.

250th ANNIVERSARY OF BEETHOVEN

Born in Bonn in 1770 into a musical family, Ludwig van Beethoven became a pupil of the great composer of the time, Haydn. His destiny places him at the junction between classicism, of which he represented the culmination, and romanticism, of which he favored the awakening. Although his symphonic music was the main source of his popularity, he also had a considerable impact in piano writing and chamber music. Overcoming the hardships of a life marked by deafness, his art is the expression of an unalterable faith in man and a voluntary optimism, making him one of the most significant figures of the history of music.

150th ANNIVERSARY OF THE BALLONS MONTÉS

During the Franco-Prussian War of 1870, Paris was encircled by the Prussian army. To re-establish communication with the outside world, the famous engineer and photographer Felix Nadar created the "Company of Military Balloonists". Together with Germain Rampont, Director General of the Post Office, he set up a camp at the foot of the Butte Montmartre, where the headquarters of airmail was born. His gas balloons equipped with a gondola transported civilian and military mail as well as passengers and carrier pigeons to enable two-way communication. A total of 66 balloons, known as balloons montés, left the capital. Some never reached their destination, while others were captured by the enemy. Today, letters which travelled by balloon are highly sought after by collectors.
